

Army University
Fort Leavenworth, Kansas

Mr. Jeramy Cook

Director, Department of Academic Support & Distributed Learning, Army Management Staff College

Mr. Jeramy Cook is currently the Director of Academic Support – Distributed Learning at the Army Management Staff College (AMSC). He became a member of the Army Profession in July of 2007 through the TRADOC Fellows program.

While in the program he earned his Master of Science – Instructional Technology degree from Texas A&M University - Texarkana and spent two years on assigned developmental rotations at HQDA G-3/5/7 Training Directorate, Combined Arms Center (CAC) – Command and General Staff School (CGSS), Combined Arms Support Center (CASCOM) – Sustainment Center of Excellence (SCoE), and Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC) – Training Operations Management Activity (TOMA).

Upon completion of the Fellows program, he joined the AMSC family as an Instructional Systems Specialist. In this capacity he taught the Basic and Intermediate Resident Courses as well as developed lesson material and Interactive Multi-media Instruction (IMI) for AMSC's distributed learning (DL) courses.

His civilian education also includes a Bachelor of Science in Secondary Education – Biological Sciences from Utah State University. Additionally, he is a graduate of all Civilian Education Courses (Basic, Intermediate, and Advanced Courses).

